Infrastructure is essential for SADC Industrialisation and sustainable development - UNECA

By Innocent Mbvundula

The United Nations Economic Commission for Africa (UNECA) has said infrastructure development is an essential catalyst for the SADC industrialization and the attainment of the African Union’s Agenda 2063 and the United Nation’s Agenda 2030 for Sustainable Development (SDGs).

The United Nations Under-Secretary-General and Executive Secretary of UNECA, Her Excellency Dr Vera Songwe made the remarks at the opening ceremony of the 38th SADC Summit of Heads of State and Government in Windhoek, Namibia.

Dr Songwe noted that insufficient stock of productive infrastructure continues to curtail faster industrialization in the SADC Region and on the African Continent. On this note, Dr Songwe commended the SADC Summit for putting infrastructure development at the centre of its industrial development agenda, saying the theme of the 38th SADC Summit; Promoting Infrastructure Development and Youth Empowerment for Sustainable Development, reflects the desire of the SADC region to put Infrastructure at the centre of Industrialisation and sustainable development.

The UNECA Secretary General said there is an urgent need for more investment in infrastructure development and its maintenance. “Poor infrastructure does not only undermine Industrialisation but also the entire Regional Integration objective. Regional Infrastructure is key to facilitating regional Trade and Integration. Hard infrastructure, such as Electricity, Roads and Railways, and soft infrastructure, which can be defined in broad terms as all trade-related services and regulations, for instance standards and customs procedures, often work together to achieve the objective of facilitating Trade and decreasing the cost of doing business,” Dr Songwe pointed out.

She described the SADC Regional Infrastructure Development Master Plan (RIDMP) adopted by SADC Heads of State and Government in August 2012 as an important tool to guide the development and implementation of priority infrastructure projects for the region in the six priority sectors for development namely; Energy, Transport, Tourism, Information and Communication Technologies, Meteorology, and Transboundary Water.

She said, when fully implemented, the SADC RIDMP will enable the coordination and harmonisation of all regional infrastructure developments within the SADC region, thereby facilitating intra-regional Trade, Export product diversification and competitiveness in the SADC economies, resulting into large efficient markets and lowering production costs.

Germany’s Federal Minister for Economic Cooperation and Development visits SADC Secretariat

By Barbara Lopi

Germany’s Federal Minister for Economic Cooperation and Development, Dr. Gerd Müller, who is on a tour of several African countries visited the Secretariat of the Southern African Development Community (SADC), in Gaborone, Botswana on 27 August 2018.

The Minister was welcomed to the Secretariat by the Deputy Executive Secretary for Regional Integration, Dr Thembinkosi Mhlongo on behalf of the SADC Executive Secretary, Her Excellency, Dr Stergomena Lawrence Tax. During the brief visit, Dr. Müller discussed the Germany cooperation with SADC and the perspectives of the regional integration in Africa. The objective of the cooperation is to enhance the SADC’s capacity as the main coordinating body for regional integration in the Region.

Dr. Mhlongo briefed the Minister and his delegation on SADC’s overall programmes, with highlights on the long-standing bilateral cooperation between SADC and Germany. Since 1985, the Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ) has provided a total volume exceeding €300 million in bilateral Technical and Financial Cooperation to the SADC Region.

Both Parties noted the success stories achieved to date in implementing SADC programmes. One such example is the support in the “Strengthening of National-Regional Linkages in SADC” (SNRL) Programme since 2016.

Yet another set of examples of the SADC Success stories resulting from the funding from German are in the areas of transboundary cooperation in the water sector where the BMZ support through GIZ has facilitated the establishment of necessary institutional and organisational frameworks which have resulted in harmonised policies, strategies, guidelines and instruments for transboundary cooperation in the water sector. Furthermore, success has also been recorded in the Transfrontier Conservation Areas (TFCAs) where support has been provided to the local, national and regional actors to improve implementation of SADC protocols and strategies for sustainable natural resource management in transfrontier conservation areas. Both Parties also noted the challenges the SADC Region is facing and one outstanding area is in compliance by Member States to implementing SADC Protocols and programmes. The German Cooperation committed to provide some support towards dealing with this challenge.

The Minister commended the SADC Secretariat for fostering regional integration, industrialization, peace and security cooperation within the region and added that the region has a mammoth task to create jobs and opportunities for young people. Dr. Müller further said that the SADC region should mobilize the private sector within the region to work closely with vocational training institutions to bridge the gap between the academia and the industries and thus facilitate creation of job opportunities for the youth. In addition, he expressed his wish to see SADC Member States increase their export flux to the EU Market, by making efficient use of the existing instruments such as those provided in the Economic Partnership Agreements (EPAs).

“This will enable the SADC region to meet the international standards in terms of quality, and to increase SADC exports to the EU market” - Dr. Gerd Müller

SADC commits to Eliminating Malaria by 2030

By Innocent Mbvundula

SADC Heads of State and Government on 18th August 2018 signed a Windhoek Declaration on Eliminating Malaria in the SADC Region, firmly placing regional malaria elimination on the agenda of all Member States and eliminating malaria in the region by 2030. In the Declaration, the SADC Heads of State and Government reaffirmed their commitment to place malaria elimination as a top priority on the SADC agenda in accordance with the provisions of the SADC Protocol on Health and Malaria Elimination Framework.

The regional leaders noted with concern that malaria continues to have detrimental effect on education, labour and employment, economic growth and development in the SADC region and that the region’s critical sectors will continue to be at a disadvantage as long as they are affected by malaria. The Roll Back Malaria (RBM) Partnership to End Malaria welcomed the signing of the Declaration by all sixteen SADC Member States, saying countries and regions working together to eliminate malaria are more powerful than any one country alone.

“The Windhoek Declaration on Eliminating Malaria is a strong example of how countries can pool knowledge and technical skills to accelerate progress and amplify outcomes. As malaria-carrying mosquitoes easily cross borders and transmit disease, it is essential that countries work in lockstep to prevent the spread of malaria across borders,” said the Chief Executive Officer of the RBM Partnership to End Malaria, Dr Kesete Admasu. Dr Richard Kamwi, Elimination 8 Ambassador, former Namibia Minister of Health, and RBM Partnership Board Member also welcomed the commitment by the SADC Heads of State and Government to end malaria. “We know we can eliminate malaria in SADC. We have leadership and vision, and are united to achieve this shared goal,” he said.

SADC Member States are already taking a lead towards the elimination of malaria at national, regional and continental levels. The United Republic of Tanzania has established a plant that manufactures a mosquito pesticide called Biolarvicide which is a safe product according to international standards for mosquito spraying. The product has properties that can also be used to control other vector-transmitted diseases. His Majesty King Mswati III of the Kingdom of Eswatini is the Chairperson of the Alliance of Leaders Against Malaria (ALMA) which is championing the elimination of malaria across the African continent. ALMA has adopted a score card as a tool to monitor progress towards elimination of malaria.

The Windhoek Declaration calls for the intensified resource mobilization to ensure Malaria programmes are adequately funded; promotion of a supportive policy and legislative environment for Malaria elimination and reinforcing accountability among SADC Member States to accelerate and achieve regional malaria elimination. It is estimated that Africa accounts for 90% of global Malaria cases. In 2016, 47 million malaria cases were reported in the SADC region alone.

The SADC Deputy Executive Secretary for Regional Integration emphasized the effort that the region is currently undertaking by developing Regional Value Chains and preparing for the profiling of the agro processing sector with support from the German Government through the GIZ funded SADC Germany Programme on Regional Value Chains. “This will enable the SADC region to meet the international standards in terms of quality, and to increase SADC exports to the EU market”, he said. In the same vein, he stated that SADC is also at an advanced stage in terms of Free Trade Agreement, and is a party to the Continental Free Trade Area (CFTA) and the Tripartite (SADC-COMESA-EAC) Free Trade Area, which will surely foster trade across the region and globally.

In concluding the discussions, both sides reiterated their wishes to continued cooperation in the existing areas of collaboration. The current SADC support from BMZ are in the areas of:

• Regional Economic Integration (covering also Peace, Security and Good Governance);
• Transboundary Water Management;
• Transboundary Natural Resource Management and Resilience to Climate Change;
• Strengthening National-Regional Linkages; and
• Strengthening compliance mechanisms for enhanced regional integration.

All signatories pledged to fully and effectively implement the declaration and committed to convening the National Dialogue without undue delay. The National Dialogue was intended to debate and agree on a consensus basis on how to move forward with the reforms process in the Kingdom of Lesotho. The National Leaders Forum agreed on the composition of the National Dialogue Planning Committee and adopted the Terms of Reference of the Committee.

Speaking on behalf of the four-party Lesotho Coalition Government led by the Right Honourable Prime Minister Thomas Thabane, Lesotho’s Deputy Prime Minister, the Right Honourable Monyane Molelek, highlighted that the National Leader’s Forum serves as a confidence building measure among stakeholders and provides new impetus for the implementation of SADC decisions. He further observed that the convening of the meeting was a reflection of the commitment and resolve of Basotho towards the implementation of the envisaged reforms.

The Deputy Prime Minister thanked South African President and SADC Facilitator to Lesotho, His Excellency Mr Cyril Ramaphosa for his continued commitment to assisting Basotho to find a lasting solution to the political and security challenges facing the nation. He also thanked the Facilitator’s Support Team led by Justice Dikgang Moseneke whom he described as “a friend of Basotho, and a tenacious leader whose shrewdness, intellectual and technical ability have seen us through the first step towards reforms.”

The Secretary General of INTERPOL, Mr. Jürgen Stock paid a courtesy call on the SADC Executive Secretary, Dr. Stergomena Lawrence Tax at the SADC Secretariat, on 28th August 2018, in Gaborone, Botswana to discuss cooperation between SADC and INTERPOL.

The meeting also offered an opportunity to discuss emerging areas of cooperation to be included in the review of the Cooperation Agreement. Guided by the Cooperation Agreement signed in February 2012, the two Organisations cooperate in among others, joint planning and execution of operational activities; exchange of information; and identification of specialized regional training needs.

During the meeting, Mr. Stock highlighted that in view of the increasing criminality in the world, and increasing sophistication of the transnational organized crime, whose proceeds are used to fund illicit and terrorism activities, there is a need to put in place collaborative measures to improve police control at the borders and build a Global Architecture of Security.

Her Excellency Dr. Tax expressed SADC’s appreciation to INTERPOL for their continued support since the creation of the Southern African Regional Police Chiefs Cooperation Organization (SARPCCO) in 1995, and its formal integration into SADC structures in 2006. The Executive Secretary further informed that the Revised Constitution for SARPCCO was approved at the recent Summit of SADC Heads of State and Government in Windhoek, Namibia in August 2018, conferring a new impetus in the fight against transnational organized crime.

Furthermore, H.E. Dr. Tax highlighted that the support of INTERPOL through the Regional Bureau (RB Harare), in terms of training and joint operations is pivotal to mitigate the emerging increased trend of cyber based and transnational organized crime. The two Parties resolved to continue to further strengthen their collaboration through the on-going review of the Cooperation Agreement, which takes cognizance of new and emerging challenges posed by terrorism, cyber based and transnational organized crime.

Lesotho National Leader’s Forum Convened

Ramaphosa encouraged all Basotho to continue to strive for peace, stability and development in the Kingdom of Lesotho, and reiterated that SADC remains committed to working with the Government and people of Lesotho in the search for a lasting solution to the political and security challenges facing the Mountain Kingdom in their quest to find sustainable solutions to the challenges confronting them. The National Dialogue Planning Committee was elected during the Forum to coordinate the preparations for the National Dialogue Plenary I and II and facilitate the arrangements for in-district consultations as agreed in Plenary I. Plenary II will agree on the way forward regarding the reform mechanisms and make proposals for national reconciliation and its implementation.

The meeting was attended by partners implementing the Lesotho National Dialogue and Stabilization Programme (LNDSP) funded by the UNDP, namely the Christian Council of Lesotho, the College of Chiefs, the leadership of Parliament, the Judiciary, Academia, Civil Society, the United Nations, the European Union, the Media and other stakeholders.
The Directorate of Food, Agriculture and Natural Resources (FANR) and Social and Human Development (SHD) at the SADC Secretariat in collaboration with the New Partnership for Africa’s Development (NEPAD) Agency on 24 - 26 July 2018, organised a capacity building workshop for focal points of the SADC Comprehensive Africa Agricultural Development Programme (CAADP) and Nutrition in Johannesburg, South Africa.

The workshop which was convened with the support from the European Union through the Operationalization of the SADC Regional Agricultural Policy (RAP), was aimed at strengthening the capacities of the focal persons on knowledge-sharing and monitoring food and nutrition security practices in the SADC region. The workshop was opened by the Director of Nutrition in the National Department of Health of the Republic of South Africa, Ms Rebone Ntsie. In her remarks, Ms Ntsie emphasised the need to have a platform for Member States to share lessons and good practices in implementing high impact nutrition interventions.

She indicated the need to make strides in addressing nutrition challenges such as reducing the stunting prevalence by 40% to meet the World Health Assembly 2025 targets. The Knowledge platform will allow the region to track progress made on key food and nutrition indicators both at Member States and at regional level.

On his part, Dr Laila Lokosang, CAADP Advisor from the African Union Commission reminded the participants that, from the first CAADP Biennial Report that was presented to the African Union Summit in January 2018, Member States agricultural information presented was not impressive, and that more needs to be done to generate good information through well thought indicators to support agricultural developments.

Head of Programme Natural Resources Governance, NEPAD Agency Dr Amadou Diop underscored the need to address hunger and malnutrition challenges facing the region and continent and also the need to ensure accountability through data information and knowledge sharing for CAADP commitments and Agenda 2063 reporting.

Speaking on behalf of the European Union Delegation in Botswana, Mr Tebogo Matlhare reiterated that EU’s commitment to supporting operationalisation of the SADC Regional Agricultural policy and one such support is the implementation of the SADC Food and Nutrition Security Strategy (2015-2025). The Funding from the EU to support the FNS strategy is up to the year 2020. The initiative on knowledge management is expected to reinforce Member States capacities on knowledge-sharing and monitoring in the Region, foster evidence-based dialogue and promote a multi-sectoral approach in information and knowledge creation and sharing for improved food and nutrition security.

There is a growing recognition of the strategic value of knowledge management in the governance and management of Food and Nutrition Security (FNS) initiatives. This trend largely accrues to the pivotal role of Africa’s intellectual and knowledge capital in realising the aspirations and development goals as enshrined in AU Agenda 2063. The implementation of the CAADP have over the last decade enabled countries to gain valuable insights and experiences, and in turn useful data and information on key transformational issues in the agricultural sector.

The three-day workshop was specifically aimed at equipping participants with skills and tools for tracking and reporting on FNS standard indicators - as part of the CAADP Malabo Declaration processes; strengthening in-country capacities in generation, processing and exchange of knowledge; providing practical orientation on the SADC and NEPAD FNS Knowledge Portal, including how countries can use the Portal to share knowledge and report progress on standard indicators; establishing a virtual SADC-Community of Practice on FNS and agreeing on an outline and a plan of action for a communication and advocacy strategy for the FNS Portal.

A joyful moment for SADC Media Award winner, Ms Kgautlhe

By Innocent Mbvundula

For Ms Calviniah Kgautlhe, a 34-year-old Journalist from Botswana, the 17th of August 2018 will go down in history as one of the most fulfilling moments in her Journalism career. The day marked the official opening of the 38th SADC Summit of Heads and Government in Windhoek, Namibia.

In full view of the SADC Heads of State and Government, including President of Botswana, H.E. Mokgweetsi Masisi, high-profile guests and thousands who watched the proceedings live on television, Ms. Kgautlhe walked to receive her first prize print media award in the 2018 SADC Media Awards which was presented by Outgoing SADC Chairperson H.E. Cyril Ramaphosa, President of South Africa, assisted by the SADC Executive Secretary H.E. Dr Stergomena Lawrence Tax. Ms. Kgautlhe is a Journalist for the Botswana Press Agency (BOPA) in the Department of Information Services which publishes the DailyNews newspaper and Kutlwano Magazine. A holder of a Bachelor’s degree in Media Studies from the University of Botswana, she has practises Journalism for nine years in both private and state media.

In her winning article, Ms Kgautlhe delved into how the development of 1,900 km Trans-Kalahari Corridor, running across three countries-Botswana, Namibia and South Africa-would promote economic prosperity and cultural exchange of the people in the SADC Member States. The story focused on ordinary people who stand to benefit from this mega project. Her inspiration to report on Regional Integration was inspired by her desire to see a highly progressive Africa with effective programmes and policies, addressing the needs of the African people, while motivating them to be agents of change who can contribute to regional economic prosperity, peace and security, and social justice. She says, her 2018 SADC Media Award is a result of her burning desire for a progressive and prosperous SADC region. Ms Kgautlhe is not new to awards. In 2009, she was awarded Best Reporter on Productivity Issues by the Media Institute of Southern Africa (MISA)-Botswana Chapter. In 2013, she was given an award by the Botswana Department of Information Services, recognizing her as the Most Promising Officer. Outside Journalism, she was selected as a candidate for the 2015 Former U.S President Barack Obama initiative called Mandela Washington Fellowship for Young African Leaders Initiative (YALI).

Nevertheless, as she explained to Inside SADC Newsletter, being at the 38th SADC Summit to receive the SADC Media Award was no small thing. To start with, the 38th SADC Summit was one of the most well attended SADC events in recent memory. Among many high profile guests who attended the Summit were, the African Union Chairperson, H.E. President Paul Kagame of the Republic of Rwanda, two Namibian Former Presidents, H.E. Dr Sam Nujoma and H.E. Dr Hifikepunye Pohamba, and Former President of Mozambique, H.E. Joaquim Chissano. Besides, the 38th Summit was significant in many respects. First, the newly-admitted 16th SADC Member State, the Union of Comoros, attended the Summit for the first time. Secondly, Windhoek which was the venue of the 38th Summit is very historical in that it is the place where SADC was transformed into a Development Community from a Coordinating Conference through the 1992 SADC Treaty. For a Journalist like Ms. Kgautlhe, Windhoek is a special city. It was the Windhoek Declaration that gave birth to the United Nations World Press Freedom Day, observed on 3rd May every year to promote an Independent and Pluralistic media.

Ms. Kgautlhe seized the moment during Summit to shake hands with H.E. President Cyril Ramaphosa and to take a photo with H.E. President Masisi, experiences she says will forever be remembered. To Journalists who are contemplating on submitting an entry for the SADC Media awards, she advises that it is critical for them to ensure that their stories carry elements of regional integration to encourage interconnectivity which will lead to economic prosperity of the SADC region. The SADC Media Awards were established in 1996 following the approval of the SADC Council of Ministers in 1995 to recognise best media work in disseminating information on SADC to support the process of regional co-operation and integration. The Awards are in four categories namely; Print, Photo, Television and Radio. Winners of prizes in each category receive USD2,500 and their runners-up get USD1000.
IM: Could you explain what the SADC-QF entails?

DS: The SADC-QF is an overarching ten-level qualifications framework underpinned by learning outcomes and quality assurance mechanisms in SADC. It is a comprehensive Regional Qualifications Framework (RQF) for Schooling, Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET) and Higher Education. The vision is that, in the SADC region, all new qualifications - certificates, diplomas and other documents issued by competent authorities will contain the relevant descriptors on the SADC-QF. Its purpose is to enable easier movement of learners and workers across the SADC region and internationally.

IM: What is the relevance of this SADC-QF for the SADC region?

DS: There are a number of reasons for having the SADC-QF. It provides a mechanism for comparability and recognition of qualifications in SADC; facilitates mutual recognition of qualifications in all SADC Member States; harmonises (develop a common understanding of comparability of) qualifications wherever possible; promotes the transfer of credits within and among Member States and even beyond; and creates SADC regional standards, where appropriate.

IM: We understand there are six (6) implementation areas of the SADC-QF with each being championed by a Member State. Could you explain?

DS: Yes, under the SADC-QF, the SADC Secretariat coordinates the Governance aspect. The Republic of South Africa champions the Development and Alignment of the SADC-QF and Republic of Botswana is responsible for Quality Assurance. The responsibility of Verification is under the Kingdom of Eswatini while the Republic of Namibia is responsible for Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL), Credit Accumulation, Transfer (CAT) and Articulation. Lastly, the aspect of Advocacy and Communication is championed by the Republic of Zambia.

IM: What are the benefits of the SADCQF?

DS: The SADCQF holds numerous benefits to the beneficiaries. These include: Promoting dialogue and mutual understanding; Creating a wider pool of knowledge, skills, values and experience in the region as countries can begin to fill their training gaps and collaborate in highly specialised training; Increasing access to skilled and knowledgeable personnel through a more efficient, rational and standardised system; Allowing learners and workers greater flexibility and mobility within the region and increasing the pool of learning opportunities.

In addition the SADC-QF helps in facilitating determination of qualification comparability and credit transfer in the SADC region; regulating cross-border provisioning; streamlining and rationalising training resources leading to greater economies of scale in developing highly technical and rare skills and knowledge.
SADC RVAA Programme makes strides to integrate chronic poverty and resilience

By Rachel Nandelenga

The SADC Member States are refining the way they assess food insecurity, by taking account of additional issues that affect the food security and vulnerability of the population including, chronic poverty and resilience.

"We are shaping the focus of our work and ensuring that the information products that we produce are relevant and fit for purpose," said Clement Kalonga, the SADC Senior Programme Officer, Disaster Risk Reduction (DRR). Between 19 – 20 February 2018, the RVAA Programme organized awareness sessions on different methodologies that can be used to measure poverty and resilience through the VAA system. They include the Poverty Probability Index (PPI), the Resilience Context Analysis (RCA), the Resilience Index Measurement and Analysis (RIMA) model and the Community Based Resilience Analysis.

Over 65 representatives of multi-sectional committees that coordinate and carry out vulnerability assessments in the Member States, also called the NVACs attended the session in Johannesburg, South Africa. There is now an appreciation by stakeholders of the need to widen the scope of the system by integrating additional issues that have a direct effect on the food security and vulnerability of the population. Indeed, one of the priorities of the third and current phase of the RVAA Programme (2017-2021) is integrating chronic food insecurity, climate change, poverty analysis and resilience into the Programme. Mr. Kalonga said whereas the VAA system has done well in providing vital information to inform development and response to emergencies, it is essential to look at underlying structural issues that undermine food security in the region. Besides episodes of acute food and nutrition insecurity, at least half of SADC Member States experience chronic food insecurity. The rate of malnutrition remains high, with many countries including the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), Madagascar, Mozambique and Zambia recording exceptionally high stunting rates of above 40 percent (which is considered critical). Poverty eradication is at the top of the SADC agenda and remains one of the most significant challenges. The region also experiences intense and frequent climate-related shocks and crop and livestock pests and diseases that affect the livelihood of over 70 percent of the population that relies on agriculture for a living.

The SADC Secretariat has embraced resilience-building to enhance the capacity of individuals, households, communities, national or regional institutions to cope with, adapt to, and recover from shocks and stresses. "Integrating resilience measures into the VAA will enable us to gauge the capacity of the population to withstand the impact and recover from the effects of these recurrent shocks," said Duncan Samikwa, the Technical Services Manager of the RVAA Programme.

The SADC Secretariat has considered the following principles:

• Regional solidarity and co-operation
• Interaction with global and local frameworks of qualification reference
• Strengthening of national education and training systems
• Quality enhancement and strengthening of education and training in the region
• Respect for regional and multilateral decisions
• Autonomy and interrelatedness of the sectors of learning
• Pragmatism in development
• Prioritisation of projects
• Position in terms of globalisation and internationalisation
• Transparency, flexibility and validity
• Mobility
• Relation to national education systems
• Equity within and among Member States
• Responsiveness and relevance

Member States are expected to dialogue at country-level and agree on the appropriate tools and methodologies for integrating poverty and resilience into their VAA systems. The RVAA Programme will provide technical support and build their capacity as they undertake the integration.

Director of Social and Human Development

promoting greater co-operation and unity of purpose between SADC Member States and education and training stakeholders; enhancing partnerships between governments and private education and training providers to improve quality assurance practices and relevance of qualifications, and ensuring more justice in access and equity of disadvantaged groups.

IM: I understand that the SADC-QF is based on certain principles. What are these principles?

DS: The principles on which the SADCQF are based are:

• Regional solidarity and co-operation
SADC Increases Trade Flows through a Corridor Performance Monitoring System

The World Bank’s “Doing Business” report ranks commercial transit in Sub-Saharan Africa to be an ongoing challenge, mostly exacerbated by inefficient use of existing border infrastructure and excessive delays at border crossings. SADC Member States recognized the importance of liberalizing intra-regional trade and agreed to implement the SADC Trade Protocol in 1996, making mutually beneficial trade arrangements a necessity for cooperating with partners like the United States Agency for International Development (USAID).

The SADC Trade Protocol calls for Member States to eliminate barriers to trade, ease customs procedures, harmonize trade policies based on international standards, and prohibit unfair business practices. USAID, through the Southern Africa Trade and Investment Hub (the Hub) supports the continued use of the Corridor Performance Management System (CPMS) previously sponsored by the World Bank.

CPMS is a web-based platform operated by a South African supply chain management company, Crickmay, that has agreements with major Global Positioning Systems (GPS) tracking companies to collect billions of raw GPS data points related to commercial transport. CPMS uses objective GPS data to inform relevant government policies about customs border crossings, ports, road and infrastructure development. Partnerships with national and regional trade-related institutions and associations are essential to realize regional linkages through implementation of trade facilitation policy and regulatory measures.

CPMS provides data on total transport times which includes border crossings for nearly 3,000 routes in Southern and East Africa encompassing 10 major trade corridors and 294 border crossings, ports, and major economic areas. The April 2018 dashboard report for CPMS recorded 48,462 border crossings; 22,644 trips on defined routes and 528,597 trips on variable routes. Defined routes are a series of geozones such as cities, ports, border complexes and dry ports in an order defined as a corridor while variable routes are dynamic combinations of geo-zones that occurred in the month. During a presentation at the recent International Cooperative meeting organized by SADC in Gaborone, Botswana, USAID/Southern Africa’s Trade and Investment Specialist Evans Chinembiri underscored the need to make full use of the system for decision-making purposes. He made an interesting observation of the CPMS reports that showed how border complexes like Kazungula and Kasumbalesa in Zambia experience longer transit times compared with other crossings in the SADC area.

“Median border crossings of 2-3 days each side are far too long requiring an analysis and solutions to bottlenecks to create an enabling environment for intra-regional trade. There are opportunities to expand the trade footprint beyond the region.

In our case, going beyond the confines of Southern Africa to broaden export markets to include East Africa and improve investment and productivity in the region,” stated Mr. Evans Chinembiri. SADC continues to identify the challenges that slow down the movement of the goods and trucking across border posts and is working actively with Member States and donors to implement a range of Pan-African solutions to enhance cross-border trade and economic development.
The Regional Coordinating Committee (RCC) under the SADC Chiefs of Police Sub-Committee of the Inter-State Defense and Security Committee (ISDSC) held a meeting in Lilongwe, Republic of Malawi, from 19-20 July, 2018 to review the status of implementation of the SADC Protocol on the Control of Firearms, Ammunition and Other Related Materials.

The meeting was opened by Dr. George H. Kainja, Commissioner of Malawi Police Force and Responsible for Research, Planning and Reforms. In his remarks, Dr Kainja highlighted the dangers of illegal proliferation, circulation and trafficking of Small Arms and Light Weapons, that contribute to national, regional and global problems such as terrorism, drug circulation, murder, armed robberies, poaching, mercenary activities, corruption and other criminal activities, thereby threatening peace, stability and development of countries.

In reviewing the status of implementation of the SADC Protocol on the Control of Firearms, Ammunition and Other Related Materials, the RCC noted that the problem of the illegal proliferation, circulation and trafficking of Small Arms and Light Weapon can be resolved holistically and in an integrated manner by improving cooperation and coordination, and reforming capacity building to regulate compliance with all aspects in existing international and regional instruments. The meeting however commended Member States on the progress made so far in the implementation of the Protocol despite challenges being faced, and encouraged them to build on the achievements made.

During the meeting, representatives of the African Union Master Roadmap for Silencing the Guns flows in Africa, provided feedback on the decisions of the Ministerial Committee of the Organ, following the recommendation made at the 14th RCC meeting held in Namibia. The meeting, among other things, recommended the following:

- Develop SADC Strategy on the Prevention, Combating and Eradication of illicit Proliferation, Circulation and Trafficking of Small Arms and Light Weapons in the region;
- SADC Secretariat should facilitate the procurement of Marking Machines for Member States.

The RCC is one of the key organs that contribute to the development and implementation of the SADC Protocol on the Control of Firearms, Ammunition and other Related Materials and makes recommendations to the Police Chiefs Sub-Committee and subsequently to the Ministerial Committee (MCO) of the Organ on Politics, Defense and Security Cooperation and also provides policies and strategies on regional policing under the Agenda 2063, with a view to prevent, combat and eradicate illicit proliferation, circulation and trafficking of small arms and light weapons.

The meeting was attended by delegates from 10 SADC Member States namely: Angola, Botswana, Democratic Republic of Congo, Eswatini, Malawi, Mauritius, Mozambique, South Africa, Seychelles, Zimbabwe, INTERPOL Regional Bureau-Harare and INTERPOL General representative on Firearms Programme from Lyon, France.

Between 02 – 06 July 2018, the SADC Regional Vulnerability Assessment and Analysis programme convened a Dissemination Forum in Maseru, Lesotho to synthesise results of the 2018 Vulnerability Assessments and Analysis (VAA) from Member States into a regional report. The meeting was attended by over 60 representatives of Member States’ National Vulnerability Assessment Committees (NVACs), development partners and Permanent Secretaries from Ministries that are responsible for NVACs. The NVACs presented the results of their 2018 assessments and analysis and discussed experiences and lessons learnt. The meeting participants also discussed emerging trends in vulnerability assessments and the key drivers of food and nutrition insecurity and vulnerability in the SADC region. Speaking during the opening session, Mr. Haretsebe Mahosi, the Chief Executive Officer, Disaster Management Authority of Lesotho and current Chairperson of the SADC RVAA Programme Steering Committee called on stakeholders to focus on sustainable strategies that address both acute and chronic food and nutrition insecurity, which has plagued the region.

“We need to employ new ways of working to address food and nutrition insecurity because it is a threat to the region. We must find a way out of this situation”, he said. Mr Japhet Litenge, the Chairperson of the Namibia Vulnerability Assessment Committee said the joint efforts of the RVAA Programme were important in informing the efforts to improve the livelihood of the people and socio-economic development of the region. He called for collaboration, emphasising that “the challenges in the region, require Member States to work together as countries, and with development partners”.

The SADC Secretariat library is appealing to experts who have published books, reports or papers related to SADC Regional Integration and Development to share their works to be catalogued and archived in the regional Library. The SADC Secretariat library is positioning itself as an institutional information hub and has since completed the uploading of SADC Summit and Council records, while the process of uploading important documents in the form of research reports or any work done under the banner of the SADC Secretariat is on-going.

The steps to collect and store information in the Library are aimed at creating a centralised managed place where public information can be accessed. The SADC Secretariat staff and project experts from different sectors usually engage in research and eventually produce papers that help to inform decision making by SADC Member States leaders. SADC Secretariat returns the sharpest human resources in the Region to carry out the implementation of SADC Region development programs and our intention is to capture and manage that knowledge to avoid re-inventing the wheel.

The 38th SADC Summit theme (August 2018 -August 2019) “Promoting Infrastructural Development and Youth Empowerment for Sustainable Development”. The theme was proposed by the Republic of Namibia, in its capacity as incoming Chairperson of SADC, and endorsed by the 38th SADC Summit. The theme takes forward the SADC industrialization agenda, while focusing on three main elements which are infrastructure development, youth empowerment and sustainable development.
Nane Nane Day on 8 August celebrates to recognize the important contribution of farmers to the national Tanzanian economy. Nane Nane means "eight eight" in Swahili, the national language of Tanzania (and of Tanganyika and Zanzibar, the two countries whose union created the United Republic of Tanzania in 1964).

Nane Nane also may refer to the Agricultural Exhibition, a one-week fair that takes place every year around this date [8/8] in varying locations of Tanzania. In the Nane Nane Agricultural Exhibition, farmers and other agricultural stakeholders (e.g., universities and research institutes, input suppliers or fertilizer producing industries) showcase new technologies, ideas, discoveries and alternative solutions concerning the agricultural sector. Nane Nane is a fair where government and private firms present their services and activities to the public.

Every year the national Nane Nane show takes place in different locations, for example in Ngongo, Lindi Region (2014), while there are also regional Nane Nane shows held in seven zones, namely in Arusha for Northern Zone; Eastern in Morogoro; Lake in Mwanza; Highlands in Mbeya; Southern in Lindi, Mtwara or Songea; Western in Tabora; and Central in Dodoma.

TOURISM & WILDLIFE

SADC recognises that a well-developed Tourism Sector can be a powerful catalyst for inclusive economic growth and Regional Integration. The Region prides itself in possessing rare natural features and diversity of tourism appeals. In the face of increased illegal killing and trade in wild species of fauna and flora and their products, and in particular, the threat to the survival of remaining populations of elephants and rhinos in the Region, SADC adopted the Law Enforcement and Anti-Poaching (LEAP) Strategy. The Strategy aims to significantly reduce the levels of poaching and illegal trade in wildlife fauna and flora and enhance law enforcement capacity in the SADC region by 2021.
